WHAT IS A CREDIT UNION?

Credit unions are not-for-profit cooperative organizations that exist to serve their members.

Credit union members often have shared interests and appreciate participating in an institution designed to help other members.

Think of it this way: One member's savings becomes another member's loan.

Did you Know?

For more than 100 years, U.S. credit unions have provided financial services to their members.

Personal service

OVER
110
MILLION CREDIT
UNION MEMBERS
NATION-WIDE

Member Focused

Members share a common bond. You may be able to join based on your employer, family, geographic location or membership in a group.

Member-Owned

Credit unions are owned and controlled by the people, or members, who use their services. Your vote counts. A volunteer board of directors is elected by members.

Competitive Rates & Reduced Fees

Earnings made by credit unions are returned back to members in the form of reduced fees, higher savings rates and lower loan rates.

Insured Funds

The National Credit Union Share Insurance Fund provides individual depositors up to $250,000 in coverage at each federally insured credit union.

Credit Unions in Schools

Credit unions encourage their members to save regularly to build economic security for themselves and their families. Federally insured credit unions offer a safe place for you to save your money, with deposits insured up to at least $250,000 per individual depositor.

The NCUA logo consists of the letters "NCUA" in a bold, white, sans-serif font, centered within a white rectangular border. This border is itself set within a larger, dark blue rectangular area.

Federal consumer financial protection laws apply to credit unions. These laws include the Equal Credit Opportunity Act, which requires credit be made available to members without regard to sex, marital status, race, national origin, religion, age or any other prohibited basis.
